

VOLUME 9

Journal of Wetland Archaeology

The Sunken Village

Volume 9 of JWA is dedicated to the well-preserved site of Sunken Village, on the southern end of Sauvie Island, Portland, Oregon., USA. Sunken Village is one of only c.250 archaeological sites in the USA to have been given National Historic Landmark status. The Sunken Village report is set up in six synthetic sections, starting with a general introduction and then going on to look at physical setting; the archaeological investigations; floral and faunal remains; artefacts; and finally a summary of the ecological, artefactual, and functional context of this newly investigated site.
